

Quality Assurance (QA) includes all activities designed to produce products and services of appropriate quality. QA focuses on the entire quality system including suppliers and ultimate consumers of the product or service.

Quality Control (QC) has a narrower focus than quality assurance. QC focuses on the process of producing the product or service with the intent of eliminating problems that might result in defects.

